JUST A DREAM.

I.

The midsummer sun shone down upon the charming little village of Mayfield, and this was the pretty domestic picture that its rays lit up:

A cottage with a slanting roof, and broad latticed windows, and white-washed walls gleaming through tangled masses of woodbine and sented tea-rose. A narrow graveled path, leading up straight from the little garden gate, with nodding grass and blooming flowers nestling close together on either side; and a few big trees as a background to the whole. The tiny domain inclosed by a low stone wall—under the shadow of a tall laburnum, whose fallen petals formed a carpet of golden tissue for her feet—the leaning figure of a young girl.

A girl with great laughing eyes and dimpled cheeks, with Hebe's face and Aphrodite's form. Her straw hat hung on a neighboring branch; and her rich nutbrown hair, tossed back carlessly with an impetuous movement, displayed a candid, intelligent brow, and a pair of sweet childlike lips slightly apart, as with upturned face she intently watched the fleecy cloudlets chasing one another through heaven's blue vault, and listened to the singing of the birds hard by. She was reveling on her new-found liberty, this maiden who had reached her seventeenth year on this glorious day of Summer. Released from the trammels of the schoolroom, she felt as though she had thrown off the iron chains of slavery, and was free—free as the balmy air and the floating butterflies. She was motherless, and the only child of a bookworm—a dabbler in ancient lore, whose Idus Achates were Plato and Plutarch, and whose familiar subjects were all the "ologies." Plunged in grief at the death of a wife whom he adored, he took to study as a mode of oblivion, and, immersed in musty folios, he sometimes forgot that he had a daughter and yet she was unutterably dear to his heart.

She was a wild little creature, this Ethel West, or Ethie as she was usually called; she was full of the exuberant spirits of childhood, and her greatest enjoyment seemed to be derived from running through the verdant woods and fields, and tanning her lovely face a rich brown shade to match her lustrous tresses.

Listen to her soliloquy as she leans upon the wall:

"What can papa mean by saying that I am just commencing my battle with life? Battle, indeed, when all this is so bright and peaceful! I could stay here forever, with the breeze fanning my cheeks so sweetly. I like to see the blue smoke curling through the trees and going upwards, upwards, until it looses itself in that strange shaped cloud; I love to see the butterflies skimming over the flower-beds, and the bees, and everything else that seem so gay. Why do people say, 'Life is a mistake,' and shake their wise heads, and look sad and ominous? Life is delicious on such a day as this, and I feel just as happy as a bird!"

And she broke off two big clusters of yellow blossoms from her canopy, and placed one in her bosom and one in her hair, with all the coquetry of a girl in her teens, and then, glancing down the road to see if any one was coming who might notice her attempt at finery, she descried a figure in the distance.

Mayfield was quite a rural locality; and the appearance of its inhabitants, few in number, was very familiar to one another. Ethie shaded her azure eyes with a tiny hand, while she tried to discover which of the Mayfield magnates was now in view. It was not the village Æsculapius, she knew, for he was low of stature, and inclined to obesity; neither was it the new curate, who was fragile in form, and, in spite of his evangelic notions, sported an eyeglass; nor was it the Squire of Glenford Manor, for he was a Methuselah in years and as red as a rose. Ethie was nonplused. But meanwhile the figure had nearly reached the end of the garden wall, and under the shade she was able to reconnoiter his personal appearance.

A very tall man, and athletic enough; dark eyes, large and deeply set beneath straight well defined brows; a nose and chin after the antique, and a thick mustache over the full lips; and about the whole countenance a good deal of weakness and indecision; but as Ethie was no disciple of Lavater, she only saw the handsomest man that her eyes had ever fallen upon. Upon arriving at the gate, he stood undecided as to the locality of the bell. Ethel advanced with a vivid blush on her cheeks.

"Who is it you desire to see?" she asked him shyly.

The visitor, starting at the apparation before him, kept silent for a minute or so. He was a painter, and with a painter's eye for the beautiful; and in one quick glance he took in all her attractions, and longed to perpetuate them on his canvas. He already saw the picture in his mind—the low white cottage, the flowers, the grass, the drooping branches, and in the foreground the girl's sweet speaking face and graceful form.

"Mr. West lives here, I believe, and I have a letter of introduction and some books for him," he told her in a singular musical voice.

Ethel invited him in and flew to acquaint her father of his arrival; then she rushed breathlessly up to her room, and smoothed a wreath of curls that Zephyr's breath had ruffled, and donned a fresh white dress. Then she slowly descended the stairs, and entered the drawing-room with all the dignity of a demoiselle who had undergone several campaigns in town.

"Ethie, my dear, Mr Seymour has been asking my permission to sketch you; he tells me that yours is just the face he has been seeking for the principal figure in the new picture for the exhibition this year; and I have promised him you shall sit, if it is of service to him."

"And you will do so, Miss West?" Seymour demanded eagerly. "It will be an inestimable boon to me; for your hair is just the shade I require, and the features correspond exactly with it, which is a rare thing in nature," he added in an aside to her father, while a mute eloquence in his expression made Ethie blush scarlet.

These were the first flattering words that she had listened to, and they sounded very pleasantly to her ears. She felt his eyes upon her, but she could not cavil at a look which, though steady, was neither bold nor disrespectful. She said nothing, but smiled an acquiessence to his request. And then Mr. West eager to pour over his newly acquired treasures, retired to his study, and the artist and his model were left alone.

"A feeling of nervousness stole over Ethie as her father left the room. But Seymour was a man of the world and came to the rescue at once.

"May I see your garden Miss West?" said he.

"Certainly," and she scolded herself immediately for her stupid little answer, but had no courage to add to it.

They descended the steps that led to a large well-kept parterre and shrubbery behind the house, walking side by side, but saying nothing. At length she ventured a remark.

"Are you staying in the village for any time?"

"Only for a week or two, to gather materials for pictures. Your county is celebrated for its beauty, you know."

"Yes;" and then not knowing what to talk about, she said—"I like the front of the cottage better than this; do you?"

"Yes;" and Seymour put on a sentimental tone as he went on, "for it was there I first saw you. I shall never forget it."

Ethie tried to look up grateful for his kind words, but instead of it her eyes sought the ground steadily, with intense gratification filling her soul.

"Who were you waiting for at the garden wall?" he questioned presently with all the authority of an incipient lover; and she never resented the freedom, but answered with truth and frankness written on her brow.

"For no one. It is my birthday, and I wished to pass it in my favorite place. I am never lonely there, with the flowers and the sunbeams making it so bright."

"But you were waiting for some one," he persisted, with a serious look.

Ethie contradicted the fact with a shake of her little head and a puzzled expression on her features.

"Yes, the Fates had ordained it! You were watching and waiting for me."

The girl did not even smile; she only mused over his assertion, and thought it would be very pleasant to watch and wait for him always.

II.

A couple of weeks had glided by since Ethie had first looked on Ernest Seymour. The sun shone bright as ever, and the birds sung quite as blithly, but she was changed. She had turned from a wild, happy, laughter-loving child into a serious, thinking, loving woman. Even a casual observer with ordinary powers of perception could scarcely have failed to note the depth of shadow that lay in the erewhile beaming eyes. The rosy lips parted less frequently in a smile, and there was a something suggestive of her feelings in the very action which pushed the hair off her hot forehead as she leant her cheek pensively on her hand.

She was watching and waiting for Seymour now; day by day at the same hour she leant on the old stone wall, and day by day her watching had been rewarded by a presence which had become dearer to her than life. He never failed to keep the tryst—ostensively to sketch her face, in reality to steal away her heart.

The easel was placed under the laburnum, the drooping foliage of which concealed it from the view of passers-by. In that little green nook the happiest hours had passed that Ethie had ever known. Sweeter phrases had fallen from Seymour's lips than strokes from his skillful brush. At the onset the extreme beauty of his sitter had absorbed him in his art in spite of himself and Ophelia, Evangeline, Louise de la Valliere, Diane of Poictiers, and many another beside, owned Ethie's face for theirs.

"I cannot surely be like that," she would say to him, stealing on tiptoe and peeping in delighted admiration and astonishment at the glooing image of loveliness depicted on the canvass.

"Yes, only a thousand times more beautiful," he would murmer in impassioned accents; and then he would take her gently by the arm, and place her full face, profile, gazing upward like a devotee, or bending lowly as a Magdalene. She was a mine of wealth to him for years to come, he said; and then he would stoop and look into her eyes to see the rush of happiness that welled up into them at his words. "There's nothing half so sweet in life as loves young deam." Mr. West wrapped up in his books, never dreamt of breaking the spell that was cast over his motherless child, and so the two, undisturbed, drifted unconsciously into an intimacy, that became "Ernest" and "Ethie" to each other. After an hour's sketching he would rest, although it was but a labor of love and not very arduous in its nature; but he prefered to sit idly there, with his fingers toying with her hair as she knelt on the grass beside him. He spoke and she listened, and more than this Ethie never wanted. There would come long pauses, more expressive than their speech, during which it pleased him to watch the changing color on her soft cheek, and to try and catch the shy furtive glance that she dared not indulge in too long.

"Tell me about London," she said one day.

Seymour smiled gravely.

"About London, child? Be content with your Arcadia here, and do not strive to look beyond. It will be a cruel hand that draws the veil aside which hides the world from you. The world is a dreadful place, Ethie," and he shook his head, and then laughed outright as he saw her look of amazement and horror.

"The world couldn't be dreadful with you there," she replied innocently showing how he had become the Alpha and Omega of everything. And yet he sat on, letting her dream, and showing no mercy.

"Tell me all about your life."

Seymour started; his life, full of folly and dissipation, on which he could not look back himself unabashed! To reveal to this young girl the unworthy pleasure his soul had been steeped in, the senseless pursuits in which so many an hour had been passed—the very notion was a desecration!—so he averted the query.

"London is exactly like Mayfield, except that there are more people and fewer trees, and far less happiness."

"I should like to judge for myself," said Ethie; "but papa would be miserable away from his beloved books, and I have not the heart to ask him to go. I wish I had a brother, Ernest;" and she looked very pretty and pathetic as she wished.

"Should I do? But no, I should not at all care to have you for a sister," and he regarded her fixedly as he emphasized the last word.

Ethie felt the hot blood mount up to her blue-veined temples, but she managed to stammer out—"Why?"

"Because—" and then he paused, rose abruptly, and clasping her hand, said, "I must go;" and nothing more.

The girl watched his receeding form with strained eyes and beating heart, until the turn in the road hid him quite from view; and then, with the elasticity of youth and hope, she bounded gaily into the house, humming a favorite air of Seymour's, and saying to herself, "To-morrow he will be here again. I wish to-morrow was come!"

III.

Seymour's stay of a fortnight had now lengthened into several weeks. When the village clock struck 11 A. M. Ethie knew that he would come; and one morning, after having placed the easel and arranged the brushes for him, as was her daily work, she found that it wanted three-quarters to the appointed time, but she did not mind waiting, for she had plenty to think about. There were no thoughts now to spare to the blueness of the skies, the humming of the bees, or the curling of the smoke. Winter or Summer were all alike, so long as the bliss of the present remained. Ernest was the sole axile on which her mind revolved. She pictured to herself the unuterable happiness of being his wife; but would such happiness be hers? She would never know joy again if aught parted them from one another now; and just when she had come to this mournful conclusion she saw him approaching. She knew that he could not see her where she stood, so she could gaze with her whole soul in her eyes on that most beloved face; then, fearful with true love's timidity that he should find her watching him, she went into the house. Five minutes later she walked slowly forward to meet him with a newborn dignity and reserve that nature gave her as a disguise for the feelings within. With all the unconsciousnes that she could act, she held out her hand by way of greeting. He took it and quickly released it.

Ethie, sit for me just once again?" he pleaded softly.

"Yes, but I thought you wished to do the house? I'm sure there can be no new position left for me to sit in."

"Never mind; do what I ask," he urged.

"To-morrow, then?"

"Ethie, there will be no to-morrow for me here. I leave this afternoon," he blurted out boldly and suddenly, but with a stab at his heart as he marked the blanching cheeks; but in spite of his remorse, he experienced an anxiety to see the effect of his words. And what did he see—tears, emotion?

"No, she only stooped quietly and gathered a flower, and murmured—"Do you?" in her ordinary tone. "I am quite ready to sit for you," she added a minute or two afterwards; and you must leave one of your best sketches for papa."

She stood calm and motionless as a statute before him, although her heart was nigh to breaking; and none but a clever artist would have detected the terrible anguish that dilated the azure pupils or notices that that the lines of the sweet mobile features were rigid and set with mizero.

Seymour could bear it no longer.

"I have finished; let us take a last walk round the garden.

She obeyed in silence, mechanically putting up the drawing materials; but her hands visibly trembled, notwithstanding her efforts to study them; and there was a piteous quiver on her little mouth.

Suddenly she looked up and their eyes met; and in a second she was in his arms, whilst he pressed a long kiss upon her cold brow. Only the word "Good-bye!" fell from his lips.

"Good-bye!" and Ethie swallowed her sobs; and with a mute dispair saw him pass out the gate. Once he looked back and caught the girls sorrow-struck gaze; but she quickly turned away until he was out of sight. Then down upon the grass, amidst the golden blossoms, she lay for hours in tearless grief, realizing that "life was a mistake" after all.

Day after day Ethie stood by that garden gate, watching and waiting for tidings; but they came not. Her face grew pallid, and her form shadowy, and she looked as though a puff of wind would blow her into a place among the angels.

"Only a paper," was the answer to her usual query for letters; and "only a paper" brought her death-warrant at last.

"At St. Mary's, on the 4th October, Ernest Seymour, to Alice, only daughter of John Wynter, Esq., of Orton Hall, Lincolnshire."

An hour after they found Ethie in a dead faint on the ground, with the paper in her grasp.

When the first snowdrops reared their white heads, poor little Ethie was at rest beneath them.

Just a dream, but her life had ended with it!

SALT IN BOOTS, A CURE FOR CHILLS. A party writes to the Baltimore American, saying:

"In the fall of 1841 I was taken sick with the ague, and having occasion to go to Baltimore, called in at the barber shop of Joseph Toomey, located, I think, on South Calvert street, and who if still in Baltimore, would probably recollect the circumstance. I remarked to Toomey that I wished to be shaved as quickly as possible, as I expected my chill in a few minutes and I wanted to get back to the hotel to lie down. 'Why said he, 'what do you have chills for? I can tell you a cure that never fails. I have cured more than a hundred in this city. It is simple and easily taken, and if you will follow my directions I will guarantee a cure.' I promised to do so, and he then said: 'Before you put your boots on in the morning take a handful of salt in each hand, and put that from the right hand into the left boot, and that from the left hand into the right boot. Put on your boots and wear them with the salt in them, and you will have no more chills.' I did so, and have not had a chill since. Of course there could be no virtue in changing the salt from the right hand into the left boot, and vice versa; but it was a part of the prescription, and I followed it to the letter, and can bear testimony to the beneficial result."

AN EDITOR'S DREAM.—An editor, who was evidently insane, or had a strong and vivid imagination, recently got off the following appropriate item, if true:

I had a dream the other night,
When everything was still;
I dreamed that each subscriber
Came up and paid his bill.
Each wore a look of honesty,
And smiles were round each eye,
As they handed out the coin,
Saying "How is that for high?"

Pendleton on the Coolie Question.

Hon. George H. Pendleton, in his Clifton speech, discussed this matter in connection with the Fifteenth Amendment. Said he:

I object to its adoption, because it is part and parcel of a scheme to flood the country with a forced importation of an immense number of Chinese—of coolies—and thus for a second time bring into our midst an alien race, and to repeat in a more difficult form the social and governmental questions, which have so unhapily divided our people.

The opening of the Pacific Railroad, the demand for labor at the South, the desire for nimbler hands and less voracious appetites in the factories, have turned the attention of speculators to the teeming populations of the East. They find these warm and fertile countries densely crowded with a patient, degraded and heathen race. "Their skilled laborers get three or four dollars per month, and with this they seem content. They work from day-light to sunset, and have but a single holiday in the year. Their food consists of rice, salt, a few vegetables, and sometimes fish." The plan proposed is to bring immense numbers of these people here to supply the demand for labor in the fields and factories, and the shops. We in Ohio have not appreciated the importance of this movement.

I protest against it now, in time, before they come among us—before we are confronted with duties and obligations, and interests growing out of their presence. They are an alien, an inferior and idolatrous race. They have not our tastes, our habits, or manners, or developments, or religion. They are not fit to become citizens, or to enjoy the right of suffrage. Amalgamation would destroy both their race and ours. Isolation will give rise to great troubles. England, Ireland, Germany, Norway, France, have an overflowing population of our own race, similar to us in manners, habits and religious faith—an industrious, sturdy, self-reliant, self-respecting people. They are fit to become citizens. They will mix with us, and our commingled blood is purer for the association. Let us invite them with open arms to come to us. Let us people our country with the best races of men.

But the Chinese give us cheap labor? Cheap human labor. I despise the word. It signifies a crime and a shame. It signifies squalor, degradation, ignorance and vice. Are not laborers men—our fellow men? They have bodies to clothe, and stomachs to feed, and minds to educate, and spirits to elevate, and old age to provide for. They have homes which they love, and wives whom they cherish, and children whom they hope to make worthy citizens—the honest fathers and virtuous mothers of a succeeding generation. And can you remember these duties, and see these aspirations; can you contemplate the patient hopefulness of cheerful and contented, because fairly compensated industry, and talk of cheap labor? Labor is too cheap now. Labor does not receive its just reward. This country needs skilled laborers, and honest, intelligent, unflagging, zealous industry; it needs that such labor shall not be cheap, but that it shall be most bountifully rewarded. The relation of capital and labor now, is badly adjusted. Idle money—money which has no human wants or affections, or sympathies—earns more than labor, with all its sweat and toil and suffering. Money combines with money, and seeks increase with immunity under acts of incorporation. When laborers combine for their protection, they are in some of our States denounced by the law, and everywhere looked on with suspicion. They should not antagonize. They should co-operate. They should be in harmony. I do not know that the solution of this great problem has been discovered, and I believe great progress has been made in late years to establish a juster and better relation. That progress will continue. It must command the efforts of an advancing civilization, and the favor of a just God, until the last human intellect, and hand and blood, as they constitute the nobler, shall also be the better paid member in the great partnership of labor and capital."

What Mr. Pendleton foresaw and warned against last September is rapidly becoming an alarming fact.

GARIBALDI ON THE STUMP.—The man of Caprera has issued another of those pithy proclamations for which he like the first Napoleon, has become famous. In this last he says:

"President Grant, by lifting his finger, might have sent Prim's soldiers in Cuba back to Madrid, but he allows the murder of the entire population of Cuba, who are part of Washington's great family. He barely permits the Great Republic to fling a word of sympathy to the brave descendants of Lafayette. But France has risen as one man, and will soon make the old autocrat repent his having sought this butchery.

"Thou who first proclaimed the emancipation of races, classical land of liberty, home of the exile, wilt thou abandon in this struggle of giants thy sister nation who marched, and will again march at the van of human progress? Heroic struggle!"

He continues:

"France is in ruins because her army of braves was led by the stupidest of tyrants, but the nation is here. It has risen as one man, and will make the old autocrat of Prussia repent his inhuman butchery."

SUMMER FRUITS.—Acids promote the separation of the bile from the blood, which is then passed from the system, thus preventing fevers, the prevailing disease of summer. All fevers are billious; that is, the bile is in the blood. Whatever is antagonistic of fevers is cooling. It is a common saying that fruits are "cooling," and also berries of every description; it is because the acidity which they contain aids in separating the bile from the blood, that is, aids in purifying the blood. Hence the great yearning for greens, lettuce, and salads in the early spring, these being eaten with vinegar; hence, also, the taste for something sour, for lemonades, on attack of fever. But this being the case, it is easy to see that we nullify the good effects of fruits and berries, in proportion as we eat them with sugar, or even sweet milk or cream, if we eat them in their natural state, fresh, ripe, perfect, it is almost impossible to eat enough to hurt us, especially if we eat them alone, not taking any liquid with them whatever.

The Day After the Delirium.

Monday was, in some respects, the most remarkable day in the history of this city. The leading branches of business were either suspended, or were subordinated to the business of gaming. A city of 150,000 people gave itself up to a financial debauch. The master passion of getting something for nothing, ruled for the day. Yesterday 50,000 people awoke in this city to find that fortune had jilted them, and that they were poorer in purse and in self-respect than before they had made their ventures. The average Californian has been disappointed so often that he takes any additional reverses without showing any outward signs of distress. And yet there is no lack in many quarters of something akin to anguish. Laborers, widows, servant girls and children did in many instances invest nearly all they had in the scheme of yesterday. They won no prizes; but they have probably won a keener grip of poverty. Children will go without bread and there will be more of destitution which is concealed from the public eye.

It was readily admitted that the loss of the Mercantile Library would have been a public calamity was substituted for the lesser one. There is a certain measure of success on the money side of the transaction, which will go far to turn the edge of wholesome criticism. A debt of $240,000 was paid at the cost of $1,000,000—twenty-four per cent. of the sum finding its way to liquidate indebtedness.

As the Mercantile Library was an institution for the education of the people, and especially for the young, it would not do to let it fail. It has cost a million of dollars to redeem it, and the schooling of the whole community in the business of gaming. The Library has been saved. But was it worth saving at such a cost? It will abide, not as a monument of sacrafice—of patient acerction—but of reckless prodigality. Other libraries have been built up in this community by rigid economy—by that toil and patience which becomes a part of all healthful education. But the events of yesterday will be associated with this library as long as the memory of the youngest child shall last. The historical associations never can be separated. The boy who goes for a book, and who is carefully instructed at home concerning all the evils of gaming, will never lose the consciousness that the very book he draws was made accessible through a game of chance. You must not gamble, is the precept of home. But all these treasures were won by gaming, is the moral of the library.

The delirium of Monday is over. The people who fainted because they drew no prizes will feel better soon. These, and some thousands more that no substantial fortune can be gained here awoke yesterday to the consciousness of the fact without hard work. It is the old story. But the only fortunes which last here are those which have been well seasoned with sweat and grime. There are more idle people here than in any city of the same size in the country. A shrewd observer has justly said that one must travel as far as Naples before so large a proportion of idle people can be found. A majority of this class expected to draw prizes on Monday. If they could only be content to draw the compensating prize of hard work, fortune would be assured. Idleness, beggary and crime are increasing, and the more rapid the increase the more is the temper of the people disposed to tolerate any desperate game of chances. Forty million acres are waiting in this State for an installment of working men. The prizes are homesteads, wheat fields and herds of cattle on the hill-sides. These are legitimate prizes, and there are no blanks.—Bulletin, 2d.

GOLD IN CALIFORNIA NOT EXHAUSTED.—For some years the public have been gradually familiarized with the idea that the gold yield in California was likely to become less and less, so that in a generation or so the ore would be exhausted. The splendid productiveness of California in other things besides the precious metals, was fairly enough, counted upon as a compensation for this. But if the gold is going to "give out," there are few signs of it at present. So far at least, as the deposits at the San Francisco Branch Mint are in evidence, the yield is actualy and largely increasing. These deposits for the first eight months of 1870 have been: of gold, 719,211 ounces, against 532,686 ounces in 1869, and 398,081 ounces in 1867. The silver deposits in the same time have been 209,104 ounces, against 99,631 ounces of last year. This is inverting the usual experience in auriferous districts in favor of a State which must certainly, in material respects, be the most fortunate in the world.—Mountain Democrat.

A TWO-HEADED CHILD.—A gentleman residing at Cardington, Ohio, describes a freak of nature or monstrosity, which is exciting the wonderment of Cardington and vicinity. He says:

"We have a monstrosity a short distance from here that will beat the world. Last Tuesday morning a lady gave birth to a double child.—It is of the natural length of a child, with a perfect head on each end. On one side there are two perfect legs, with feet; this side, only, is the gender apparent—that of a female. On the other side there is one leg, which is as large as both the others, and appears to be double; the foot displays eight toes. The creature is healthy. It takes its food well in both mouths, and digests well. There is but one set of bowels, and it had but one naval string. One end will cry at a time! I think the old woman will say: "Did you ever?"

REWARD OF HONESTY.—A rather romantic incident occurred the other day at the Court of the ex-Queen Isabella of Spain. One of her maids of honor, a beautiful young lady, lost her pocket-book containing eight hundred francs. Next day it was returned to the Queen by a handsome young peasant who had found it. Not a centime was missing. She asked the honest finder what reward he asked. The young fellow had noticed the pretty owner of the pocket-book and had seen how glad she seemed to get it back, and so he turned to the Queen and said boldly: "I only desire a kiss from the young lady." The Queen smiled, and glancing over to her maid of honor she said: "Will you grant him the request, Carmen?" Carmen reflected for a moment, and then rushed toward the young peasant, and clasping her arms around his neck, kissed him three times amid the laughter of the bystanders.

County Official Paper.

WOODLAND, CAL:

Saturday, November 12, 1870.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL JO. HAMILTON is reported dangerously ill at Auburn; he is suffering from neuralgia of the left lung.

COAL MINE.—While prospecting for silver, a few miles from Ogden recently, a man named McCasey struck a ledge of coal of excellent quality.

ELECTED TO CONGRESS.—Frank Hereford, at one time a resident of Sacramento, is among the newly elected Congressmen of West Virginia.

CRAZY CHICAGOANS.—Tickets in the Mercantile Library Lottery sold for twenty dollars in Chicago, and were in demand on the day of the drawing.

MILITARY POST.—A military post has been established in the heart of the Pimo country by General Stoneman. Captain Nutterman, of the twenty-first infantry, is in command of it.

EXPENSE OF THE LOTTERY.—The Mercantile Library only just clears off its mortgages by the lottery. The expenses of the affair were largely increased by its postponement, and will aggregate about $200,000.

THE VALLEJO CHRONICLE has commenced its sixth volume. It is published by Frank A. Leach, and edited by M. D. Brownson, formerly of the Napa Reporter. The Chronicle is a spirited daily, and is meeting with financial success.

NEW PARTY.—A. E. Redstone of this city, a member of the Workmen's State Central Committee, says the Vallejo Recorder of the 9th, will leave here this morning for the purpose of organizing the Workmen's Party throughout the State. He goes first to Suisun.

TIDAL LAND PAYMENTS.—The State Comptroller has decided to receive second payments for tidal lands until the 11th instant, after which time delinquents will be reported to the Commissioners, when a new sale will take place.

RUMORS OF PEACE.—Rumors are circulated, based on private dispatches from New York, that peace has been declared between France and Prussia on the basis of the cession of territory, as proposed, by Russia and England guaranteeing the treaty on the part of France.

GRANTZ BROWN.—This is the name applied by the Mail to the newly elected Governor of Missouri. It sholud be Gratz Brown. He is not Grant's Brown, very much, either, as it would sound like from reading the aforesaid paper. Guess he is our Brown. He favors white men, he does. Hurrah! for Gratz Brown!

ALMOND CROP.—Hon. John Bidwell, of Butte county, California, last month sent to San Francisco, three tons of almonds, grown upon his ranch. They are of the paper shell variety, and of superior quality, commanding twenty-five cents per pound in the market. This consignment was only a portion of the crop.

FRUITS OF NEGRO SUPREMACY.—All our readers have been informed of the deplorable financial condition of South Carolina. Since the negroes obtained the ascendency Florida is no better. In 1868 her debt was $523,856 95. Now it amounts to $14,999,544 44, an increase in two years of 2,800 per cent., entailing upon the people an annual tax of $1,117,400 in gold.

END OF TWO NOTORIOUS SPORTS.—On Wednesday last, William Dresser and Matt Greer got up a private shooting match, in Sacramento, themselves being both marksmen and targets. John Greer also assisted his brother and may have shot Dresser, but unfortunately escaped himself. He was arrested and imprisoned. Matt Greer and Dresser were each mortally wounded and died soon after.

MEXICAN AFFAIRS.—Late arrivals from Mexico state that another revolution is imminent. In several states the standard of revolt has been raised, and the Government officials have been sent for and it is hoped that the insurrection may be put down. The condition of Mexico is truly deplorable; the Government has no stability, and, indeed, the people seem incapable of self-government. And what is the cause of this? The reason can be given in a single word—Mongrelism.

WEEKLY RESCUE.—This paper, the organ of the Good Templars, commences its eighth volume under very favorable circumstances. The paper has been enlarged to an eight-page paper and furnished with a new dress of the neatest kind. Mr. J. A. C. Palmer called upon us the other day, while in town on business connected with the Order. Mr. Palmer acts as agent for the Rescue, and we trust he will receive large additions to his subscription list. Published in Sacramento at $2 50 per year; to clubs of ten or more, $2 a year.

LARGE LAND SALE.—Dr. Glenn has, we learn from the Colusa Sun, just closed the purchase of the Mills & Curtis ranch, of about ten thousand acres, for two hundred thousand dollars. The Doctor now owns the whole of the Jacinto grant of eight leagues, from the mouth of Stony Creek down four leagues and two leagues back from the river, except a half mile strip owned by George Pratt. At the same rate he paid for this tract, his whole farm is worth in the neighborhood of three-quarters of a million of dollars! Comfortable.

THE ELECTIONS.

GLORIOUS NEWS FOR THE DEMOCRACY.

Nevada Joins Hands with California and Oregon.

NEW YORK ALL RIGHT!

Bayonets, Money and Negro Votes combined could not Change the Result.

MISSOURI ACAIN FREE!

TENNESSEE DEMOGRATIC ALL OVER!

Kentucky Sound to the Core.

Maryland and Delaware all Right.

ALABAMA AND ARKANSAS DEMOCRATIC!

Great Democratic Gains in Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Virginia and Kansas.

To lovers of a Republican form of Government the news from the States East which held elections on Tuesday last is of the most cheering character. Almost everywhere the Democracy have triumphed, notwithstanding the immense odds they have had to contend against. Bayonets could not deter them from voting. Money could not purchase their votes. Negroes could not change the result.

The State of Nevada is gloriously redeemed through the efforts of the gallant Democracy; our sister State on the east has been recovered from the control of the Radical corruptionists, and she now joins hands with California and Oregon on the side of Democracy, justice and a white men's government. Thus the Pacific Coast is completely redeemed, disenthralled, and will henceforth stand in an unbroken phalanx on the side of Democracy in favor of perpetuating this glorious Republic under the principles of Washington, Jefferson and the other Fathers of the Republic. All hail, Nevada!

New York State has given Governor Hoffman a majority of 70,000 to 80,000, and gained five or six Congressmen. In the city the latest news reports the Democratic ticket over 50,000 ahead. Mongrelism and Radical corruptionists are ousted in the noble Empire State. The military minions of Grant were of no avail. With that determination which is a characteristic of good Democrats everywhere, they went to the polls and voted, and none dared to interfere. That there was a disposition on the part of the Radicals to do so is very probable, from the preparations made, but discretion proved the better part, and the soldiers were kept away from the polling places. We are rejoiced that such was the case. The thirty thousand Democrats who marched in procession under review of Mayor Hall, Gov. Hoffman and General McClellan, a few weeks ago, would not have been kept from the polls without a determined effort. As it is, all is well. New York is overwhelmingly ours.

Kentucky and Tennessee are also staunch and true to their country, and have given immense majorities for the Democratic candidates, probably from 30,000 to 50,000.

Missouri has come out from Radicalism and elected the Conservative candidate, Gratz Brown, and doubtless the State and Congressional tickets, also. Radical despotism has for years carried on the government of the State of Missouri with a high hand; kept white men from the polls since the war; but the crowning act of enfranchising the negroes was too much for the stomachs of those white men who were permitted to vote, and they have decided in favor of removing the disabilities in the way of white voters by electing Mr. Brown as their Governor, thereby hoping to place the government of Missouri in the hands of white men, and finally throwing the Radicals and their pets overboard entirely.

Maryland and Delaware have elected the entire Democratic tickets, or very nearly so.

Alabama is reported as having given a very large Democratic majority.

Arkansas, with her heavy negro vote, is reported Democratic, also.

Besides the above, the telegraph is compelled to admit great Democratic gains in Illinois, Virginia, Wisconsin, Michigan and Kansas, all of them strongholds of imperious Radicalism.

Enough has come to hand to warrant us in claiming a gain of about forty Congressmen, which will break down the Radicals completely. Their power for such great wrongs as have heretofore been inflicted upon the people of this country is broken—gone. They will not dare repeat the acts of despotism heretofore practiced by them during their remaining time in power. Glory enough has been won for one day. White men everywhere will hail the result with joy. America will yet be preserved as an asylum for the oppressed of all nations—a free, prosperous, happy white men's Republic. The hand-writing is on the wall—the fiat has gone forth—it must and will be so in spite of all opposition.

We have not room to give details in this issue; indeed the returns are too incomplete as yet; but by another week we shall be enabled to give results more closely.

Radical Pets.

In order that our readers may have a fuller conception of the infamous game played by the Radical revolutionists in New York, and that they may see more clearly the workings of the Act of Congress to control State elections, we append from the World a list of some of the characters appointed under it by Marshal Sharpe and Federal Judge Woodruff to supervise the polls, and to arrest and bully the voters:

Here follow the facts about some of these graceless villians. The antecedents of others will be given from day to day, as fast as the records of the courts and prisons can be searched:

Richard Enright, Supervisor in First Ward, Eighth District. Arrested for robbery in 1863.

John Grimes, Supervisor Twelfth District, Fifth Ward. Arrested in April, 1863, for stealing a gold watch.

Michael Costello, Marshal, Sixth Ward. Bounty jumper during the war.

Harry Rice, Supervisor Thirteenth District, Sixth Ward, was connected with the Chatham street concert saloon murder, and fled to Nebraska to escape punishment.

Thomas Lane, Supervisor Seventeenth District, Sixth Ward. Formerly keeper of a notorious den at Five Points, head-quarters of a den of thieves and robbers.

John Lane, Supervisor Twenty-second District, same Ward, was indicted for receiving stolen goods. Has served a term in Sing Sing.

Edward Foley, Supervisor Sixth District, Ninth ward. Arrested last year for stealing a watch.

Humphrey Ayres, Supervisor Eighteenth District, Ninth Ward. Arrested August 20th, 1869, for till-tapping.

James Fitzsimmons, Supervisor Twentieth District, Ninth Ward. Arrested August 1, 1868, for robbery.

John Martin, Supervisor Fifth District, Twelfth Ward. Arrested a few years ago under an indictment for arson.

Samuel Rich, Supervisor Fourth District, Thirteenth Ward. Served a term of two years at Sing Sing for felonious assault.

John, alias "Buckey," McCabe, Supervisor Eighth District, Fifteenth Ward. Charged with shooting a man, with intent to kill, about a year ago.

William P. Burke, Supervisor Twentieth District, Eighth Ward. Served his term in the State Prison of Massachusetts, for burglary; also two years in the New York State Prison.

James McCabe, Supervisor Fourth District, Eighth Ward. Now confined in the Tombs under indictment for highway robbery.

William G. Irving, Supervisor Fourteenth District, Eighth Ward. Has served a term in Sing Sing Prison for burglary committed in the Eighth Ward, and has never been pardoned.

Patrick Henry Kily, alias Fred Williams, Supervisor Twenty-second District, Eighth Ward. Keeper of a house of ill-fame; resort of the lowest and vilest characters.

Patrick Hofferman, Supervisors of the Tenth District, Sixth Ward. Arrested some time since for attempted murder.

Patrick Sterringer, Supervisor Eighth Ward. Has been arrested several times for keeping disorderly house.

J. F. Baderhop, Supervisor Tenth Ward. Arrested for murder a few years since.

Ed. Weaver, Marshal in Eighth Ward. Has been but a short time out of State Prison, where he has been serving his sentence.

Walter Prince (colored), Marshal Eighth Ward. Now in prison awaiting trial for highway robbery.

Andrew Andrews, alias Hauk Nicols, Marshal. Panel thief; been sentenced two or three times to State Prison, and has just returned from Blackwell's Island.

"APATHY."—The Radical papers of course feel sore over their overwhelming defeat by the cohorts of the Democracy in New York. That is not surprising. But it would be much more manly to come out and own up to a fair and square thrashing, than to attempt to explain away the thorough defeat as the Sacramento Record does. Governor Hoffman is reëlected in New York by a largely increased majority, yet that paper says: "The efficacy of the means employed by the Government to secure an honest election is shown by the fact of the large falling off of the Democratic vote. That the Republican vote was also diminished, though in a smaller ratio, is to be explained on the ground of apathy, or the dread of riots and fighting at the polls." We would refer the Record to the list of appointees by the Radical managers, which appears in another column of this paper. They were appointed to "spot" Democrats and keep them away from the polls, without a doubt. Talk about "roughs" controlling the polls! If a respectable paper like the New York World is to be believed, a large portion of the Supervisors of Election in New York city appointed under the Federal Law, were selected from among the worst and most desperate men to be found—men stained with crime of every hue. But the Democrats were determined to vote in spite of the threat of military interference. The result shows that they did vote; and they voted right. Grant and his military minions are worsted. "Apathy" and "dread of riots" may be good excuses in the eyes of the Record, but we don't see it in that light. The fact is, Mr. Record, your party didn't have votes enough, niggers and all.

PREPARING FOR HIGH WATER.—The main topic of conversation among the owners of ranches, in Sutter county, along the line of the Sacramento river, says the Vallejo Recorder, has been in regard to the probable effect the levee now building on the Colusa side, may have. They naturally suppose and expect the result experienced elsewhere, that the water, should it rise to its usual hight, will be thrown over on their side and their lands flooded. So unanimous are they in this opinion that the different parties are already commencing to take all necessary precaution and to this effect will prepare a levee on the Sutter side of the river. Judge Hurlburt has already far advanced a strong levee as protection to his property, and it is stated that the neighboring residents will soon commence similar work.

EDITORS NOT IN LUCK.—Horace Greeley was beaten in New York by S. S. Cox, and John Wentworth was defeated in Chicago by Farwell. The editors are not in luck.

San Francisco Correspondence.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1st, 1870.

MERCANTILE LIBRARY.

Last Monday was a day of unusual excitement—old men, old women, babies, nurses, everybody was on the qui vive. Thousands who invested in the lottery eagerly watched for the coming of the 31st to carry out the plan of expending the $100,000; as for the smaller sums, faugh! no one would think about them. One very matter-of-fact genius, who never before allowed his imagination to get the upper hand of his common sense, became so much enthused with the idea of drawing a prize, that he took a trip to the San Joaquin Valley to look at a ranch he desired to purchase, telling his wife to telegraph him at Stockton on his drawing. The telegram brought the worthy to his senses, "instanter." When he got the news that he had drawn a blank, he said "he felt as though he had been waked out of a pleasant dream by having a bucket of cold water thrown on him." One disappointed urchin said to us: "I jush think the whole thing wash a humbug—our folksh put in fife dollesh and didn't draw outh one darnth red." We believe it was squarely conducted throughout. 'Tis true:

"Many now ride, who never rode before;
Some who walked, will only walk the more."

And all the unaccountable deeds perpetrated are spoken of as evils resulting from the illicit enterprise. Emil Hirsh, the late suicide, invested largely, like many others only to be disappointed. On the 2d instant he, in conversation with one of his employers, remarked that "he had got nothing for the money he had expended, and any man who had drawn nothing might as well commit suicide." At half-past eleven o'clock on the 3d instant he was discovered by the Chinaman who attended to his room lying on the floor with his back against the wall bleeding profusely from a wound in the forehead. Near the wounded man was a breech-loading deringer, with which the murderous deed had been committed. Hirsh lingered till 4 o'clock in the afternoon and then died. The feminine who attempted to run the gauntlet by pasting figures on her ticket to represent a lucky number which drew $100 was detected by a clerk with the aid of a magnifying glass. Well may she consider herself in luck for once, in not being prosecuted for forgery.

A LAMENTABLE TRAGEDY

Occurred on the Oakland ferry-boat on November 3d, which you have heretofore mentioned. A. P. Critenden, Reporter of the Supreme Court, who occupied a high social position, was shot by a Mrs. Laura Fair, and has since died of his wounds. Mr. Crittenden in 1864 formed the acquaintance of Mrs. Fair and acted in her defence in a case in which she was on trial for murder. Crittenden proving an able advocate, Mrs. Fair was acquitted. She ultimately became his paramour, and on account of a feeling of jealousy in being rivalled by Crittenden's wife who was just returning from a four months' visit in the East, (and beside whom he was seated at the time) the fair Laura made him pay the penalty of his suit with his life. Mr. Crittenden was 58 years of age. MARION.

HAPPY VOORHEES.—At a Democratic jubilation in Indianapolis, just after his election, Mr. Voorhees made one of his happiest efforts, from which we reproduce the following extracts, showing how he was "defeated" by Senator Morton:

"Before I left Washington City last July, it was told me from a perfectly reliable source, that ex-Governor Morton—does he live here now?—[Laughter]—that whatever sacrifices it required, whatever outlay of money, or whatever labor on his side was necessary, would be given for the purpose of my defeat. That this was on account of the speech I made here at the Academy of Music. I have met all these influences of the press and the influence of money, I have met the influenee of their political leaders, and I have triumphed by a gain of over 2,000 votes. [Cheers.] A gain of over 2,000 has given me over 1,300 majority; and in that gain I have not only participated myself, but have given it to the State ticket, I have given it to the Legislature and if Governor Morton now sees fit to go to England, we will see who goes to the Senate of the United States. [Laughter.] He would like to go to England. [Renewed laughter.] Well, if he goes, a better man will take his place in the United States Senate for the next three years. [Cheers.] We have put a ne exeat on him."

THE New York Post, Radical, don't believe that Secretary Cox resigned for "personal and private reasons." It says:

There is not a word of truth in these assertions, General Cox was driven out of the Cabinet by the intrigues of a parcel of "men inside politics," who could not misuse his departments for their own purposes while he was at its head, and to whose solicitations President Grant weakly succumbed. It is not pleasant for those who have long been friends of the President, and who would be but too glad to support him, to know that in this matter his course has been totally indefensible; and that it is not for the good of the country, but for the advantage of a set of corrupt and corrupting political schemers that General Grant has suffered General Cox to be driven from his side.

PHILADELPHIA CONTROLLED BY NEGROES.—Three thousand five hundred ignorant negroes now control the city of Philadelphia. Their votes gave it into the hands of the men who control these Africans. The Age says that on the day of election, in many of the precincts, strings of negroes were in line all day, voting a ticket which had to be marked in a conspicuous manner in order that the "virgin voters" might recognize it. Not one in fifty of the negroes who polled the Radical ticket that day could read even the head line of their ticket, or knew what they were doing.

WHEAT.—The wheat market is quiet in Woodland at $1 80 per 100 pounds.

Bold Robbery of an Express Car—Over $95,000 Stolen.

VERDI, November 5th.—As No. 1 was leaving here last night, five masked and disguised men jumped on the rear of the express car and kicked the brakesman off, and drove conductor Marshall back in the baggage car with drawn pistols. At the same time two men jumped on the engine and leveled revolvers at the engineer's head, telling him if he made the least noise or did not do just as they wished, they would blow his brains out. The men on the express car drew the pin, and cut the express car loose from the balance of the train. They stopped the engine five miles east of Verdi, where there were three or four men with guns, crow-bars, and all kinds of tools to burst the boxes, etc. At that place they also had rails piled on the track so as to make sure of stopping the cars. They locked the express messenger in the mail car, and went through the express car, then made the engineer take them one mile further east, where they crossed the river, and struck out towards Washoe and Virginia. They cut the telegraph wires in two places between here and Reno, also the Western Union lines. We tried to get a message to Wadsworth or Reno, but no go. The men all had on black masks and linen dusters.

ANOTHER ROBBERY.

TOANO, November 5th.—Five men got on the train at Independence, a place about twenty-one miles west of here, cut off the express car, made mail agents, express agents, and firemen get off the car, and covered the engineer with shot guns; made him run out about fifteen miles, and there took off Wells, Fargo & Co's. treasure, amounting to $3,200 in gold, and a package value unknown as yet. They also robbed the mail car of twenty-three registered packages. Mr. Johnson, Wells, Fargo & Co.'s messenger, stored $10,432 in gold bars behind the stove among the wood, thereby saving that amount; this he did after the car was cut loose from the train, and while in possession of the robbers. A party will start out at once with an engine to the place where the robbers got off the train. This is the same train which was robbed at Reno on Friday night.

TRUCKEE, November 7.—Yesterday, Officers Burke and Smith effected the capture of a man named Jas. Gilchrist, in Sardine Valley, on suspicion of being connected with the robbery of the express car on the 4th instant, near Verdi. He told the officers several different stories and endeavored to hide some coin, which led to his arrest.

To-day, two men named John Squires and E. D. Parsons, were arrested in the vicinity of Sierra Valley, and are now lodged in jail in this town, under the same suspicion. The three men are from Virginia City.

Officers are on the track of two more, and their capture may be looked for at any moment. When searched, the men had $200 in coin each on their persons.

DIAMONDS BY THE PINT.—The reports from the diamond diggings of the Cape of Good Hope read like a page from Sinbad, the Sailor. Huts plastered with mud from the river beds, in which are embedded gems of immense value, rough diamonds, worth a prince's ransom, worn in the gaudy coiffure of African belles, and traders' pockets filled with the same precious jewels, like little boys with jack-stones, are among their features. The digging is most active on the Vaal and Orange rivers, including a district about as large as the State of Massachusetts. The three principal diggings have netted $5,000,000 up to the present time. The miners simply go to digging when they arrive, and always find their claims pan out richly. A reception given by President Brandt, of the Transvaal Republic, at Bloemfontein, is described by a correspondent as gotten up for the almost express purpose of giving the Vaal river diamonds a regular display. Some of the "court" ladies present appeared to be almost loaded down with diamonds. One lady in particular made a special display of her jewels. Her dark hair was rolled and puffed, and fairly studded with brilliants. She wore ring clusters outside of her white kids, and gold bracelets, with galaxies of starry gems. On her bosom she wore a single brilliant valued at £11,000. The heavy flounces of her dress were looped up all round and fastened with clusters of the same precious jewels. A person might have walked behind her in the crowd and plucked whole fortunes from her person by the handful.

THE SUFFERINGS OF REGENERATION.—South Carolina is being regenerated at a fearful rate. The State is groaning under the burden of taxation imposed on it by its present rulers. According to the Camden Journal, there are in Kershaw county 3,605 tax executions awaiting collection, involving the property of more than one-third the entire population of the county. In Darling county, 80,000 acres of land are advertised for sale for taxes. The Democrat says that one-sixth of the entire area of the county is to be advertised. In Lancaster county, 9,902 acres are advertised. In Fairfield county, 45,000 acres of land are advertised. In Williamsburg county 86,542 acres are advertised, or more than one-sixth of the area of the county. It is estimated that altogether about 1,000,000 acres will have to come under the hammer to satisfy the demands of the tax collectors. New York is frequently pointed to as a frightful example of long years of Democratic rule. South Carolina has enjoyed the blessings of Radical rule for only about two years, and the State is brought to the hammer.—Reporter.

And Advantages of Practical Use, and Doing its Work with

A RAPIDITY MORE THAN DOUBLE THAT OF ANY OTHER BROILER!

Beefsteak, Chicken, Ham, Chops, Fish & Oysters.

It broils steak over an average fire in SEVEN TO EIGHT minutes, and over a very hot fire within FIVE MINUTES.

Other meats in proportion; and RETAINS all the juices and flavor, which no other broiler does.

THE CHALLENGE DECLINED.

In reply to an advertisement by Messrs. Ludden and Berry which was published in our last issue, challenging Mr. C. P. Sprague to a public discussion of the question of Woman Suffrage, that gentleman, through the Mail, publishes the following:

WOODLAND, Nov. 5, 1870.

W. H. LUDDEN & J. L. BERRY: Dear Sirs: After having received my letter in response to yours of the 3d inst. declining to spend time disputing with boys, you appear to have indiscreetly published in the Democrat another challenge. I am happy to observe that you were so tractable as to learn from my letter how to spell a very common word of two syllables, and as my object was to impart instruction, I am pleased to discern that you have, to a limited extent, profited by the same. Now, my dear boys, as a gentle admonition I would say to you, in the most friendly spirit, that you ought always to be obedient to your mothers, and should suffer yourselves to be governed by them, whether they have the right of suffrage or not. I am sure they have told you it was naughty to tell lies, and you know when you said that I had at a public meeting invited discussion of the question of Woman's Suffrage, you told a lie, and you ought to go and ask your mothers' forgiveness. I think you are rather promising boys—at least you have sufficient ambition, if properly controlled, to lead you to as high a position as your intellects will warrant. Since you are so anxious to have a public discussion, I will permit my boy, if he is inclined, to debate the proposed question with you, though if he had the impudence to challenge a man to a discussion I think his mother would spank him. It matters not which side of the proposed question you desire to take, I will order Frank to take the other side, provided he is willing to debate the question. Now, be good boys, study your books, be obedient to your parents and kind to your teachers and school-mates, and if you contract no bad habits, when you become men you will be respected. Yours, paternally,

C. P. SPRAGUE.

Now come the challenging parties with the following reply to the above:

WOODLAND, Nov. 10, 1870.

MR. C. P. SPRAGUE: Dear Sir:—In reply to the article published in the Yolo Mail on the 10th inst. by you, we have this to say: we did not consider the remarks you made when introducing Mrs. Stephens to the audience as a challenge, but we did consider those you made at the closing of the meeting as such. Mr. Sprague used about these words, and the public can judge whether he invited discussion or not: "I defy the greatest talent in the world to bring forth arguments to show why man should have this right (the ballot) and why woman should not." As a vindication of the truth of the above statement we simply refer you to the audience present on that occasion. It is true we have considerable ambition, but the gentleman seems to possess an unlimited amount from the appearance of the above challenge. "The atrocious crime of being young men, which the honorable gentleman has with such spirit and decency charged upon us, we shall neither attempt to palliate nor deny; but content ourselves with wishing that we may be among those whose follies cease with their youth, and not of that number who are ignorant in spite of experience." When our mothers taught us not to lie, they also taught us that important lesson—never to accuse an individual of lying, especially when we knew the accusation to be false.

With these few remarks we will close by simply stating that the would-be champion of the world was AFRAID to meet the "ignorant boys." With due respect,

W. H. LUDDEN.
J. L. BERRY.

PERSISTING IN ERROR.—Probably upon the principle that "a lie well stuck to is as good as the truth," the Mail persists in error. Speaking of the number of acres of land in course of reclamation by the Sacramento Valley Reclamation Company, that paper still says, notwithstanding the official publication of the Company in this paper gave 74,000 as the total number of acres of land in the entire district, only about 40,000 acres of which is in Yolo county: "We made the mistake, which we intended to correct, in saying that the 100,000 acres were in Yolo county. It should have been all the land reclaimed was over 100,000, the authority for which statement we know to be much better than Judge Ramage's organ-grinder." The first error was, perhaps, pardonable, but persistence in error, more especially when others are thereby misled, is at least deserving of censure. "Judge Ramage's organ-grinder" is good. Wouldn't you like to turn the crank awhile? Have patience. Every dog has his day, you know. Years bring changes in all localities. Patience, patience; your turn may come by-and-by if you can only hold out long enough. But in the meantime be truthful. You should let your readers know that the number of acres of land being reclaimed in this county is but about 40,000, instead of 100,000, which is nearly 30,000 acres more than there is in the entire district.

J. H. EATON & SON, Successors to Eaton & Lawson, would respectfully inform the public that they are receiving quite an addition to their already extensive stock of family groceries, and feel confident that they can make it to the interest of persons wishing to buy, to call and examine their stock before purchasing elsewhere, as they intend to keep nothing but the best in their line. Prices will be placed as low as can be afforded in this market, and a liberal deduction will be made on all bills of five dollars or over, where cash is paid, or reasonable time will be extended to prompt-paying customers. Give them a call. *

U. A. O. D.—On Monday evening last, N. G. A. Hayden, and some eight members of the Grand Grove of Druids appeared in our little town on official business. It being the commencement of a new term they installed the following officers: W. W. Stone, District Deputy Grand Arch; W. A. Henry, Noble Arch; H. J. Plomteaux, Vice Arch; A. Moger, Recording Secretary; F. Eaton, Financial Secretary; A. C. Kean, Treasurer; J. D. McKenna, I. G.; S. G. Harper, W. Saunders, R. Lerch, as Trustees. After partaking of a collation, at a late hour they adjourned.

DEMOCRACY JUBILANT.—On Thursday evening the young Democracy of Woodland, stirred by the spirit of patriotism, gave vent to their feelings of gladness over the result of the elections on Tuesday in the East and South, and in our neighboring State of Nevada, by firing a salute of greeting and sympathy from the old Fort Sutter cannon. Democratic hearts beat joyfully to the thundering echoes as they carried to our friends in the country the glad tidings that Democracy and justice have again triumphed over Radicalism and oppression.

COME UP TO THE SCRATCH.—Having disposed of the Yolo Market, I want all persons indebted to me to come forward immediately and settle their accounts. Don't wait to be called upon personally, but step right up to the Captain's office, at the Yolo Market, settle your accounts, and thereby save yourselves and your humble servant further trouble.

FRATERNAL VISIT TO MARYSVILLE.—On Wednesday last a party of some twenty-five Druids, all members of Dodona Grove, together with Noble Grand Arch, C. C. Hayden, of Sacramento, started from Woodland by a special chartered train, on a fraternal visit to Germania Grove, of Marysville. Arriving at that place a Committee was found in waiting, and the visitors taken to the Druid Hall, in hacks and busses. The work of the evening over, the company were invited to a collation spread in an adjoining hall which would have done honor to Delmonico. The tables were soon filled and the viands discussed with a zest that must have been especially gratifying to the feelings of the autocrat of the kitchen. Toasts followed, crossing and re crossing, with dexterious rapidity. Speeches, from grave to gay, from lively to severe, were the order of the hour. The Marysvillites express themselves as highly gratified at the visit, while our Woodland folks are loud in their attestations of delight at the many kind and flattering attentions bestowed on them. We are pleased to note this. Such fraternization cannot but be productive of the greatest good in promoting that unity and fellowship that quickens a body into prosperous life.

ONE BRIGHT, GLORIOUS MORN, as Jupiter indolently reclined in his palace on Olympus, the goddess Diana entered, her beauteous face wreathed in smiles, and besought her sire that she might remain in a state of perpetual virginity. This unnatural request the god granted, and instead of seeing her enjoy the delights of connubial happiness, we see her reveling in the more masculine pleasures of the chase. In view of the alarming result, should her example be followed in the present generation, T. P. Magee has decided to dispose of his entire stock of children's clothing, for coin, at reduced prices. Come, ye fond parents who desire your children to look attractive, before the supply is exhausted. *

RECLAMATION DISTRICT, No. 108.—In the Board of Supervisors on Friday, 11th inst., objection having been made by the Board of Supervisors of Colusa county to J. W. Snowball as Commissioner of Assessment, on the ground of his relationship to C. F. Reed, one of the Trustees of said district; this Board rescinded the order heretofore made appointing Commissioners, and appointed Wm. Minnis and J. M. Kelley of Yolo, and W. F. Goad of Colusa county Commissioners for said district.

PREPARED TO REFUND.—A subscription paper was started here some time ago by Mr. Paul Boulon to raise money for the purpose of procuring a banner and caps for the Woodland Brass Band, and several persons paid their subscriptions; but the amount proved too small for the purpose, and Mr. Boulon being absent has authorized his father, Mr. M. L. Boulon, to refund to those who desire it. If there are any who do not desire the return of the money it will be turned over to the French Sanitary Fund, a most worthy dispoition.

ANOTHER INSTALLMENT.—That trite quotation from Shakespeare, "Throw physic to the dogs, I'll none of it," seems to have less force than ever since the opening of Apothecary's Hall by Ben Hastings. He has received another large invoice of Drugs and Medicines—enough to cure the ills of all who are ailing in the neighborhood. Give him a call. Ladies will find a choice assortment of perfumery, toilet soaps, tooth and hair brushes, etc. *

WESTERN SHORE GAZETTEER.—The first volume of this work, being a complete Directory of Yolo county, by Messrs. Sprague & Atwell, is out, and being delivered to subscribers. A copy was placed upon our table just as we were going to press, and hence we are unable to refer to it at greater length in this issue. A glance, however, satisfies us that it should be in the hands of every man in the county.

SOLD OUT.—Having sold out my interest in the grocery business heretofore conducted by the firm of Eaton & Lawson, to my partner, Mr. Eaton, this is to notify and request all parties indebted to said firm to settle up immediately, that the business of the firm may be closed up without delay. The books and accounts will be kept at the store and settlement can be made at any time. Call at once.

J. D. LAWSON.

GAS COMPANY.—We have before us the prospectus, etc., of the Pacific Pneumatic Gas Company, who propose to supply Woodland with their style of light, which is said to be just the thing for small towns unable to erect extensive works, as it furnishes just as good light at a lower rate than could be done where very heavy expenses have to be incurred.

COUNTY COURT.—Reclamation District No. 108 vs. Geo. Hagar—Set for hearing Dec. 14th, at 10 o'clock.

Smart vs. Cripe—Tried by jury. Jury failed to agree and case continued for term.

BORN.

Near Woodland, Nov. 3d, to the wife of L. B. Ruggles, a son.

A WOODLANDER ON THE LOTTERY.—We find this "set off" on a townsman in the Vallejo Chronicle, but thus far have been unable to discover the individual to whom the said letter is attributed:

"A young man well known to the traveling public, late purser on one of our bay steamers, but now doing business in the pretty town of Woodland, lately in answer to a letter, if he was not owner of the "Cowpond" that drew the fifth of a $300 prize, "went off" in the following: "Dear J.—Your letter of date is at hand. Its contents was like pouring "fle' on the troubled waters, a balm unto Gilead. For be it known unto you, that I was almost ready to denounce all loteries as a swindle, but now I will say as King Solomon—'Away from me ye scum of the earth,' who talk of the immorality of Library Lotterics, talk not to me of Churches and Young Men's Christian Associations, but give unto me those blessed numbers, those sanctified figures, those glorious characters, 25,711, and my children, and my children's children will rise and call you blessed."

PRIZE FAIR.—The people of Nevada have built one of the finest school edifices in the State, and the Fair is gotten up to help pay for the same. The object is a good one and should receive support. Capital prize $10,000 gold coin. See advertisement on another page.

SERIOUSLY INJURED.—John Lane, who lives just west of town, was run over by his own wagon the other day, on his return home, and received severe injuries which may prove fatal. Several ribs were broken.

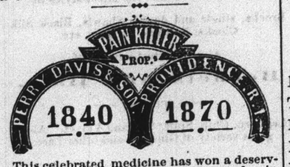
SPECIAL NOTICES.

$1,000 REWARD is offered by the proprietor of Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext. or Golden Medical Discovery for a medicine that will equal it in the cure of all those diseases for which it is recommended; among which are acute, acute or lingering Coughs, Consumption in its early stages, Bronchitis, Liver Complaint, or Biliousness, Constipation of the Bowels, loss of Appetite, Scrofulous diseases, and Skin diseases as Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches and Boils. It is sold by druggists.

A DISTRESSING cough causes the friends of the sufferer as much pain as the sufferer himself. Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry will certainly cure coughs, colds, arrest consumption, and that speedily. When did it ever fail?

DR. S. HALL.—This successful physician, since his return from, and consultation with the eminent medical men in Europe, is daily effecting cures that have defied the skill of the most eminent physicians. Special attention is given to the Diseases of the Urinary Organs—Primary, Secondary and Chronic.

DR. HALL has just published one of the most instructive and useful pamphlets on Marriage and its disqualifications, premature decline of manhood, nervous debility, loss of energy and vital power, indigestion, pain in the head and stomach, weakness, depression, and all those diseases which result from youthful follies, excesses of maturity or ignorance in nature's laws, with treatment and cure. This pamphlet has been the means of saving thousands. Sent free to any address on receipt of six cents in postage stamps, by addressing the author, Dr. S. Hastings Hall, 402 Montgomery street, opposite Wells, Fargo & Co's office San Francisco. no5-3m



This celebrated medicine has won a deservedly high reputation as an alleviator of pain and a preserver of health. It has become a household remedy, from the fact that it gives immediate and permanent relief. It is a purely vegetable preparation, made from the best and purest materials, safe to keep and to use in every family. It is recommended by physicians and persons of all classes, and to-day, after a public trial of thirty years—the average life of man—it stands unrivalled and enexcelled, spreading its usefulness over the wide world. Its large and increasing sale affords positive evidence of its enduring fame. We do not deem it necessary to say much in its favor, as one small bottle will do more to convince you of its efficacy than all the advertisements in the world. Give it one fair trial and you would not be without it for ten times its cost.

Directions accompany each bottle.
Sold by all Druggists.
Price 25 cts., 50 cts and $1 per bottle. oc22m1

NEW WEED SEWING MACHINES!

"The Last and Best!"

The following is the fac-simile of the Medal awarded to the WEED Sewing Machines at the late Paris Exposition:

The Weed Sewing Machine Company have now at last completed their Three Standard styles of Weed Sewing Machines.

First—Their new "Family Favorite." Second—Their new, light and noiseless Manufacturers' Sewing Machine. Thirdly—Their immense heavy "Manufacturers' Favorite." The three together combining the advantages of all others up to the present time, being the BEST made and doing the best work—has received throughout Europe, the States, and on this coast, the First and Highest Premium at each and every public Fair since 1867 (the year it was completed,) where any premium at all has been given or where its strong points have been really exhibited.

There is a difference!—All the Premiums that the WEED Sewing Machine Company claim, from the first and Highest Premium at the Great World's Fair at Paris, in 1867, up to the present time, (see small circulars) are each and every one genuine awards, or we will forfeit $500 for each and every false claim! Other Sewing Machines have had their Premiums, but how many of them in the last two years?

There is a difference! Says the True Chronicle: "This magnificent Sewing Machine comes forward in good time and strikes exactly the right mark." Also, the editor of the Independent says: "Such a Sewing Machine as the Weed—the New F. F.—we have never seen." Thus the New Weed Sewing Machine is the simplest and strongest, the last, and as we believe in modern improvement we may add the BEST Sewing Machine made as yet. It is the best Family Sewing Machine; it is the best Boot, Tailor, Saddler's Sewing Machine; it is the most successful Sewing Machine! for already its name is a household word both in Europe and America, and is rapidly taking the place of all others. Its immense central manufactory is in Hartford, Connecticut. Agents in all the principal cities in the world.

Price, from $65 to $500.

THE YOLO DEMOCRAT.

WHAT A BLIND MAN SAW.

He saw an honest man on 'Change,
And water run up hill;
Saw rival beauties, tender friends—
A doctor take his pill.

He saw a parson "feed his flock"—
A wolf give lambkins suck—
Police decline to pick a sock—
A fox decline a duck.

He saw the poor dote on the rich—
The pigeon on the kite—
Attorneys starve before they'd cheat,
And fleas that wouldn't bite.

He saw a sinner made a saint—
A pig's tail made a whistle,
And nature's bloom on matron's cheek—
Pink's growing on a thistle.

He saw that all men wouldn't steal,
When shielded by the law;
And other very usual things
This very blind man saw.

Miscellaneous Items.

THE negro vote in Pennsylvania is 9,475; in Ohio 6,112; in Indiana 7,905; yet the Radicals lost by it.

PHILADELPHIA gave Grant a majority of nearly 6,000. This year 3,500 negroes voted and the Radical majority is less than 5,000.

A PARTY of negroes were recently taken out of their houses and whipped by a Radical mob, near Nashville, Tennessee, for voting the Democratic ticket.

Two of the spots on the sun were seen with the naked eye on the 21st, from Rattlesnake Bar, Placer county. When the atmosphere is favorable and the eye steady a good gazer can discover one or more of these sun-spots almost any day—but what they are or why they are no one can tell.

THE Meridian, (Miss.) Gazette learns that the negroes in that county, puffed up with a vain sense of their importance, and the advice of their loyal league leaders, have held meetings and resolved that they would not work for white people next year on any account or in any capacity.

THE official returns of the election in Indiana have been received. Eddy, Democratic candidate for Secretary of State, has a majority of 2,508. This is about the average majority. The vote for Congressmen shows a Democratic majority of 5,948. The negro vote is estimated at 7,000. The Legislature is Democratic. Hurrah for Indiana!

THE State Harbor Commissioners recently met to examine and compare submerged piles which had, and which had not, been subjected to the process of the American Wood Preserving Company. Piles which had been submerged eleven months were presented, those which had received the wood-preserving process were found all right, while the others were all riddled by the teredo worm.

IN Burlington, Vermont, at the last term of Court, a white man who stole a hen was sent to prison for two years, a fate he richly deserved no doubt. At the same time a negro who stole a number of buffalo robes plead guilty to all that he was acused of, and was only fined twenty-five dollars and costs, which was promptly paid by prominent Republicans, and "poor cuff" set free.

THE Nevada Gazette declares the fibre of the soap plant is superior to pulu for upholsterers use, and says: "On the ridge above Nevada are hundreds and thousands of acres of this soap plant growing as thickly as if it was carefully cultivated. Hundreds and thousands of tons of it can be had for the mere labor of pulling it up. It is worth, when prepared, from ten to twenty-five cents per pound, and yet if we want a pound, for mattresses or any other purpose, it has to be purchased in San Francisco." Not using our own raw material is quite a common occurrence in California.

FIFTEEN years ago John Sherman, of Ohio, a brother of Tecumseh Sherman, the General, first went into Congress. At that time John Sherman was worth about $2,000. Now look. The wealth of the very Honorable John Sherman, of Ohio, is not to be computed. He has $75,000 in real estate in Mansfield, Ohio; owns the greater part of a street-railroad in Washington; has $700,000 in bonds and money, besides having large interests in immense tracts of western lands. Where did John Sherman get all this?

THE Israelites are ravishing their prayer book. At the late Jewish Synod held at Leipsic, the following was resolved: "No bitter or harsh expression shall be contained in any of the prayers under revision or to be newly composed; the contents shall embrace all human beings of the universe, and nothing shall be said therein in regard to the chosen people which might in the least offend our brethren of another creed. On the other hand, the new prayers, or those under revision, shall lay stress upon the religious mission of Israel, the providential guidance in its history, the fundamental Mosaic principles of progressive development, a future universal knowledge of the Almighty's commands, a love of peace, justice and humanity."

THE BENEFITS OF ADVERTISING.—The New York Journal of Commerce truly says that, "if a business house is not well known it should become so by liberal advertising; and the better it becomes known and the larger its business, the better still does it pay to advertise it. Advertising is not only a means of success, but it is at once the evidence of it, and a guaranty of its continuance. Many noble houses date the decadence of their trade from the suspension of advertising.

"The essential philosophy of advertising consists in letting people know that the advertiser can accommodate them in some particular or other. It is a sensible thing and absolutely indispensible as the world goes. And being a necessary point of the conduct of modern business, there is no period of the year when it can be safely intermitted. Business men, when they find trade languishing and customers few, are too apt to stop advertising. This is a grave mistake; in such periods they should advertise with renewed energy, as the best possible means of improving their affairs. In these periods, moreover, business men should not fail to make their advertising particularly conspicuous, in order to bring in new customers, and thus to ride over the dull times and get ready for better. Those who have tried this plan may not talk much about it to others, but their example, and the success that attends it, are not to be overlooked by the observing.—Shipping List, N. Y.

A RESOLUTION.—Thirty-two young ladies of Tipton, Indiana, recently met in council, and passed the following resolution: "That we will not accompany any young man to church or places of amusement who uses tobacco in any manner, and that we will discard all young men who play billiards, euchre or poker; and that young men who indulge in profane language need not apply; and that we will not, by hook, look or crook, notice any young man who indulges in lager beer or whisky; and that we will not harbor young men known to keep late hours."

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15th, 1868.

Allow me to call your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo. Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by placement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small portion of spirits. It is more palatable than any now in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,

H. T. HELMBOLD,

Chemist and Druggist of 16 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN,

Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemist, Ninth and Brown Sts., Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forbodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution, once affected with organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT of BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

DR. PIERCE'S ALT. EXT. OR GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

This is the most thorough blood purifier yet discovered, and CURES ALL HUMORS, from the worst scrofula to a common eruption. Pimples and blotches on the face, and scaly or rough skin, which are such annoying blemishes to many young persons, yield to the use of a few bottles of this wonderful medicine. From one to eight bottles cure salt rheum, erysipelas, scald head, ringworms, boils, scaly eruptions of the skin, scrofula sores, ulcers and canker in the mouth and stomach. It is a pure medicinal extract of native roots and plants, combining in harmony nature's most sovereign curative properties, which God has instilled into the vegetable kingdom for healing the sick. It is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are languid, sleepless, have nervous apprehensions or fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of weakness, will find convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial. If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated and despondent, have frequent headache, mouth tastes badly in the morning, irregular appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from torpid liver or "biliousness." In many cases of "liver complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy. For the cure of habitual constipation of the bowels it is a never failing remedy, and those who have used it for this purpose are loud in its praise. In bronchial, throat and lung diseases it has produced many remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed. Sold by druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Prepared at the Chemical Laboratory of
